Clerk reported having had photographs made for use at the municipal congress and exhibition to be held in Chicago; he was instructed to add one more picture. The street superintendent reported that the ornamental pillar at the northwest corner of Fourth and Brand had been torn down without permission. The superintendent was instructed to communicate with persons taking it down and require them to appear before the board at its next meeting and show cause why they should not be prosecuted for trespassing on city property. The city attorney was instructed to prepare necessary resolution of intention to widen Brand boulevard eight feet on each side from Sixth street to south city limits. A deed from J. S. Moore to the city of Glendale conveying certain property in tract 618 for public use was referred to city attorney who reported it improperly drawn and was instructed to return it for correction. A report was received from the city attorney on the city's domestic water supply. He was instructed to prepare an ordinance in conformity with his recommendations. The city attorney reported having seen Wm. E. Wright regarding lot 21 block 10, and that the matter is being considered. Referred to committee of the whole.

Fourth annual report of the library trustees was received and filed.

A communication was received from Sidney Dell accompanied by a set of resolutions in regard to the proposed Verdugo Storm Water district, which he wished the board to adopt. The clerk was instructed to return the same with notation to the effect that the trustees have confidence in the committee having the matter in charge. A resolution passed to hold a meeting Wednesday evening, July 19th. Bids for poles for the lighting department were opened and announced. Referred to manager of lighting department. A map of Hilda Heights was referred to city engineer. A petition to improve portions of Second street and Sinclair avenue was referred to the engineer.

On Tuesday afternoon the Bunge-O on Cedar street was the scene of a very happy afternoon, when Mrs. S. E. Williams entertained a jolly little neighborhood party in honor of the seventy-eighth birthday anniversary of Mrs. J. A. Roper, of Spokane, Washington, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. James McIntyre, for the past year.

The house was prettily decorated with flowers and vines, and birthday offerings consisted of huge armfuls of California blossoms presented with flowery little speeches, making it a very blooming occasion. At the close of a delightful afternoon dainty refreshments were served, and the guests departed wishing Mrs. Roper many more happy birthdays, and hoping that when their own seventy-eighth anniversary arrived they would have as many friends and be as well beloved as the honor guest.

CITRUS FRUIT SEASON NEARING CLOSE.

The citrus fruit season in this valley is nearing its close. For the past few months the workers at the packing houses have been busy packing and shipping the fruit as it came in from the orchards and at times the fruit ripened so rapidly that the packers were compelled to work far into the night and on Sundays to take care of it.

There was a larger crop this year of oranges than there was last season. This fruit has run somewhat smaller than in previous years, but at the same time it has averaged a very good marketable size. A little decay has been troubling the local fruit men this year, even more than was known for several seasons. Aside from this the fruit has been good and has been coming into the houses very clean. The prices received for oranges was not up to that of last year, but we are informed that on account of the heavier crop the growers will receive greater returns than they have for several years. Lemons were about as numerous this year as last, and as the prices received were about the same, the ranchers will fare financially this year the same as they did last year. The fruit has been of good size and fine condition. The decay which was known in the oranges did not touch the lemons of this district. Some grape fruit has passed through local houses this year.

It is generally thought that the outlook for next season is as bright as has been known for years at the present stage. It is a little early to definitely state what kind and to what extent the crop of next season will be, but it is believed that local fruit will be quite plentiful. Some ranchers are complaining of the green fruit dropping, but it is believed that the loss on this account will not be great.

So far this season the Edmund Peycke Packing company has shipped 102 cars of citrus fruit, about half of this being oranges, the other half lemons. There are still several more to go. Of these oranges about twenty cars were valencias, the others navel. All of this fruit comes from the valley with the exception of about two cars which come from Altadena. The house averages about six packers and eight additional men on the floor. One mixed and one car of lemons will be sent from this house this week. Sam Mosgrove is foreman at this house and J. Andrews is district manager. Mr. Mosgrove tells us that oranges will be more plentiful next season according to present prospects.

At the Sparr Packing house there has also been something doing. Eighty cars of lemons and seventy cars of oranges have been packed and shipped from this house this year. Manager F. W. Kenney tells us that he expects that at least twenty cars more of valencias and twenty-five cars of lemons will be shipped from this house before the season closes. Four cars of grape fruit were also shipped. Mr. Kenney tells us that prices have kept up fine throughout the year. The fruit sent from this house comes from the Sparr ranch and from other local ranches.

At the Rossmore packing house twenty people are employed with 43 workers in the field. Ninety-five cars of oranges, 35 of lemons and 8 of grape fruit have passed through this house this year. Fifteen more cars of oranges, eight cars of lemons and four cars of grape fruit are still to come. J. B. Young, manager of this house, tells us that the fruit this year was of a good average marketable size, and that the marketing process was seldom found necessary. At the beginning of this season entirely new machinery was installed and an addition was made to the house 60x70 feet. These improvements cost about $6000. As a result of these improvements the fruit has been handled without any delay whatever, and consequently has reached its eastern destination in a better condition than could otherwise have been possible. All of the fruit packed at this house comes from the large ranch of Judge Ross at the northern end of the valley.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

Jennie E. Krukow has sold to John Bearegon lot six in the Orange Grove tract.

Business is reported good in the office of building inspector. The following permits have been issued: Glendale Investment Co., brick block, corner Fourth and Brand, two stories, offices and second floor apartments; $7000.

N. L. Rudy, brick block adjoining the above, two stories, flats and offices, two stories, brick; $9000.

Era Parker, garage, 421 S. Brand boulevard, one story, brick front, plate glass windows, etc.; $3000.

H. A. Wilson, 212 N. Louise St., seven room dwelling, story and half; $2000.

S. H. Ralph, Doran and Louise streets, one story, six-room dwelling; $2500.

The two permits first stated will constitute one block on the northwest corner of Brand and Fourth street, which will be a little ahead in some respects of any other block in the city. Its features are a concrete foundation, pressed brick facing, composition roof, galvanized iron cornice and skylights. There will be four store rooms on the first floor, the upper floor being intended for offices and apartments.

The garage to be put up by Parker and Sternberg will also be ahead of any similar establishment in floor space and ornamental details. It will cover a full sized lot, 50 by 150, will have pressed brick front with two large plate glass windows. The top of the front wall will be ornamented by four pillars and on the top of the pillars ornamental electric lights will be placed. The building will have several stalls for the use of individual owners of machines and will be provided with all up-to-date conveniences for the purpose it is intended to serve. The cost will be near $5000.

Spencer Robinson has bought of Mrs. Mary A. Burghard a house and lot on Fifth street east of Adams.

HAY RIDE.
On Saturday evening in the glory of the full moon, the boys of the Central Christian church entertained the girls with a delightful hay ride. The ride was pleasant, but not nearly as much so as the return trip.

Coffee was made and a delicious lunch served under the light of Japanese lanterns and kerosene lamps. Unbidden guests came in the form of mosquitoes and flies.

It must have been the influence of the moon that affected some of the hayriders, as bursts of hilarious laughter and air of popular songs woke the echoes in the park. The coolness of the air was delightful and the moon throwing soft shadows through the trees made the place not unlike fairyland. The great drawback was that our permit read only until 10:30 p. m. and at that time we reluctantly left the park. We took our time coming home, as the horses were somewhat tired and arrived home some time before morning, each one declaring that it had been the best of hay rides.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.
A special meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce was held Wednesday evening in the office of J. P. Shropshire. The object of the meeting was to appoint a special committee of seven to act in conjunction with the transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce in securing a railroad along Glendale street.

The committee appointed is as follows: R. A. Blackburn, J. P. Shropshire, R. E. Chase, F. H. Vesper, T. W. Watson, G. B. Woodberry, Frank Zerr, J. A. Eppinger and H. C. Tupper. This committee met for organization on Thursday afternoon, and it is confidently expected that the matter of securing a railroad will be pressed to a successful conclusion.

Regular meeting at I. O. O. F. hall, Tuesday, July 25th. Come.

Mr. David L. Gregg, who has bought out the hardware store of C. H. Allen on Brand boulevard, comes here from El Paso, Texas, where he has occupied a prominent place in business and civic affairs. He was manager there of the El Paso branch of the Mine and Smelter Co. of New York and resigned that position to accept a partnership in the Darbyshire Harvey Iron and Machinery Co. He left Texas and came to California on account of Mrs. Gregg's health. Mr. Gregg has a great many unsolicited testimonials of esteem from the best citizens of El Paso.

He comes to Glendale after having looked well over a number of other places and will no doubt be a valuable citizen, as he has proved himself to be energetic and public spirited.

THE NEW CITY HALL.

There has been an unexpected hitch in the purchase of the site for a city hall on Howard street on account of the expiration of the option on one of the lots. The owner, Wm. E. Wright, of Burbank, had put a price of $3095 on the lot and when the question of extending the time on the option arose the trustees were assured by the agent that the matter was all right. The owner, however, found somebody who led him to believe that the price he had named was too low and as a consequence he raised it to $3500. This led to several conferences and as a result it is probable that the owner will accept the original figure for the property. If not, the trustees will have to bring condemnation proceedings which will delay matters seriously. The plans of Architect Warr which were accepted, have upon reconsideration been rejected, as it was found that the cost would not fall within the limit fixed. These plans provided for a two-story and basement structure 35 by 60 feet, a council chamber 24 by 30 feet, with dome ceiling with offices for the various city officials. The building to be of blue brick, classic style of architecture.

VALLEY VIEW IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.
The enterprising citizens of the Valley View Tract, west of Central avenue, have organized an improvement association which has started out on a campaign of usefulness. They have secured a large tent, 200 by 40, located on the corner of Sixth and Columbus, in which to hold their meetings, and on the occasion of the meeting held last Friday evening there was a large audience present. A permanent organization was effected by the election of the following officers: President, H. A. LaGross; vice-presidents, F. D. Booth, Mr. Salvey; secretary, Mr. Hammond; treasurer, Mr. Sanders. The object of the association is to work for the general improvement of the neighborhood, and one thing that is being given considerable attention at present is the enforcement of the restrictions in regard to building.

Friday of next week it is planned to give an entertainment, and ice cream social to which everybody everywhere is invited.

CANTATA OF QUEEN ESTHER.
The cantata of "Queen Esther" is being rehearsed for presentation here under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. The cast will be composed almost entirely of local characters, and will number one hundred.

The rehearsals are already in progress, and promise very well. Seville L. Howes, formerly of Detroit, Michigan, is training and directing the affair.

The cantata will probably be ready for public presentation in the fore part of next month.

There is still a number of parts to be filled, and choruses to be formed, and all who are interested are urged to take part.

The costumes are to be very beautiful, and the stage setting will be most elaborate. It is, in fact, one of the biggest affairs of its kind ever undertaken in Glendale.

Complimentary to her house guest, Miss Helen Robinson, of Los Angeles, Mrs. R. E. Chase, of Fourth street, entertained with a picnic luncheon held in Verdugo Park Tuesday noon.

Covers were laid for twelve in a rustic pergola by the stream, and a delicious picnic lunch was served. The afternoon was passed enjoying the artistic scenery of the park.

Those present were Mrs. John Pirle, Mrs. J. Meserve, Mrs. R. E. Chase, Miss Helen Robinson, Miss Anna Woodberry, Miss Clara Peterson, Miss May Richards, Miss Bernice Williams, Miss Edith McIntyre, Miss Mary Grace Cleveland, Miss Harriet Williams and Miss Shirley Chase.

I. O. O. F.'S MEET.
The regular monthly meeting of Princess Mary Chapter, I. O. O. F., was held last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Ina Whitaker, Willowdene, Ninth street, about twenty-five being present. At the close of the business session a delightful musical program was rendered, winding up with the singing by all present of one verse each of "God Save the King" and "America." The members then repaired to the garden and tea was served on the lawn. Many handsome flags of England and America were in evidence, also Irish and Canadian flags. The next meeting will be held in September.

GLENDAL, CAL., JULY 21, 1911

The wave of reform has struck Bakersfield; saloons in that town are now closed from 1 a. m. to 5 a. m.

The "Dick to Dick" letter has fallen flat. We watch with interest for the next move on the part of the "insurgents" to do damage to the Taft administration.

The advantages of running a small weekly newspaper loom up with great conspicuousness just now as compared with the strenuous life led by the editor of the "Great Daily" whose scalp is sore from continuous scratching in thinking up new epithets to hurl at the head of his hated rival.

Mr. Sidney Dell is after the Glendale city trustees, the county supervisors, the local storm water committee, and everybody else who has the temerity to oppose his scheme for a great storm water district to control the frisky waters of the classic Verdugo Wash! Mr. Dell handles a trenchant pen and a hefty typewriter, and we look with pleasant anticipations for squalls when he uncovers all that "graff" which he scents in the otherwise fragrant air.

A FARCE PROMISED.

The coming trial of the McNamaras for dynamiting the Times building promises to be a farce in at least one respect, and that is in as far as the testimony of Mrs. McNamara is concerned. This lady has already shown her intention of doing all in her power to help the defense, regardless of her husband. She is being used for the purpose of working public sentiment, represented as being "persecuted" by the detectives and the district attorney. A day or two ago while enjoying an automobile ride with her little daughter, and incidentally leading some detectives a merry chase, the auto stopped suddenly, the little girl jumped out in front of the pursuing car and was almost run over as a natural consequence. The result is another story of the brutality of the detectives who are accused of running over the child, who as a matter of fact seems to be uninjured. The lady has refused to testify before the grand jury and should properly be fined for contempt. If the court does impose a fine and punish her as an ordinary citizen would and should be punished, we shall be treated to a great outcry about a "poor persecuted woman" and the cruelty of courts, judges, prosecuting attorneys and all the other machinery of the law, will be published and do its part towards gaining the sympathy of the people whose thinking machinery is atrophied.

SENATOR HEYBURN AND THE SOUTHERN MONUMENT.

Representative Heyburn may have said some things in the heat of debate which would have been better unuttered, but in defending a principle as he was doing when he opposed the appropriation by congress of $100,000 for the purpose of erecting in a southern city a monument for the "confederate heroes," he deserves commendation. For the South to erect monuments to its heroes is commendable, but for the nation to contribute money to laud the men who rebelled against it is ridiculous. History records the unassailable fact that the rebellion of the Southern states was a mistake. The mere fact that the leaders in that mistake were sincere and conscientious does not change the fact that they were wrong to the extent of being mistaken. If the United States should start in to erect monuments to the men who have made mistakes that were approved by their consciences, the living people might be crowded off the face of the earth by the "heroic dead." The fraternal feeling that exists between the people of the North and the South is something for which our people cannot feel too thankful and it should be encouraged in every proper manner, but it should not make us unreasonable on the one hand nor foolish on the other. The reports show that Senator John D. Works is one of the apostles of nambypambyism.

THE CITY AND THE WATER COMPANIES.

The city attorney of Glendale has, at the request of the trustees, furnished them with a legal opinion on the power of municipalities to fix rates for water companies within their limits. There seems no question but that the municipality possesses the power, and it certainly should be exercised where necessary, but the result may be something of a disappointment to water users. It has sometimes happened that rates have been raised instead of lowered by the attempt to exercise this power. If the investigation, which must be made in order to arrive at an equitable charge, discloses the fact that the company is not only justified in its present rate, but can legally increase it, there is no doubt but the increase will follow. The law seems very explicit and comprehensive as regards the power to fix rates; it does not appear so successful in giving the municipality full power to enforce regulations covering the distribution, a matter which may be of more importance. Consumers are usually willing to pay well for satisfactory service. Some portions of Glendale do not have as good a supply of water as is desirable, not because the supply at the source is insufficient, but because it is not furnished in large enough pipes at sufficient pressure. The action of the trustees is commendable in starting an investigation into this matter, and with a law so plain as the quotations made by City Attorney Evans indicates, the wonder is that action has been so long deferred.

RESULTS FROM ADVERTISING.

The NEWS is constantly in receipt of voluntary testimony regarding the results of advertising in its columns. Last week a stranger in Glendale, who had spent several days ineffectually seeking for a relative who lives somewhere in this section, spent twenty-five cents for a reading notice asking for the address, and the response came by telephone in twenty-four hours. A leading merchant, being asked about the result of some special advertising, said: "Yes, our special sale was a success; we have had the best week since we have been in business—it pays to advertise. Another merchant, a liberal advertiser, said: "We did not get results at once, but as our advertising continued it brought people to our store who had never been here before, and I am well satisfied with the expenditure." A professional man who runs a card in the paper gave testimony voluntarily to the effect, saying that he knows it does him good. Advertisements of miscellaneous articles for sale are particularly successful, and, if they are staples, seldom fail to find a purchaser. The people who, in a community of this kind, "read every word in the paper" are surprisingly numerous; they do it even if they have to borrow it!

GLENDAL AND OWENS RIVER WATER.

It does not seem to us that the information that has been obtained thus far from the water commissioners of Los Angeles in regard to the disposal of the surplus water which that city will have after the Owens river aqueduct is completed, is of much value. A report has been made, it is true, which recommends the allotment of the water to those sections which will ultimately become a part of the city of Los Angeles. There is every probability that in the course of time, Glendale and vicinity will be absorbed by the greater city, but that absorption may be delayed (as we hope it will be) for many years. The aqueduct should be completed in about two years. At that time, if the calculations of the engineers prove to be correct, the city of Los Angeles will have a surplus water supply amounting to 20,000 inches. It will be "surplus" water in the strict sense of the word and would make a stream 83 feet wide by 20 inches in depth. The city of Los Angeles will not need it by that time, but will have to put it to some use (in the opinion of lawyers generally) or run very serious risk of losing its title to it. This being the case it does not appear that Los Angeles city will be in a position enabling it to say to outside communities "Here, put your shoulders under this elephant and help us support it or forever be anathema." In plain English, the city will not be in a position enabling it to drive a hard bargain and the probability is that communities that are in need of the Owens river water will be able to get it on very reasonable terms. The great San Fernando valley needs the water for that great development which seems to be its destiny, but it can use only a very small portion of it in the beginning. In this section of the valley comprising Burbank, Tropic and Glendale, there will not be any demand for this water except for use on acreage, unless it be in the case of new towns yet to come into being. The water of Verdugo canon from whence comes the gravity supply furnished to Tropic and Glendale, as at present developed, is ample for a population of 50,000 people, when limited to domestic purposes alone. It is cheaper than Owens river water ever can be, unless in the unlikely event of the city of Los Angeles piping it to the consumer, and its quality is superior to that coming from any foreign source. Just one thing is made clear by the expressions of the water commissioners and in this they agree with charming unanimity, they want Glendale, Tropic and all other territory that they can get, to become a part of the greater city, and all of their plans and ideas are made to bring about this consummation. This paramount idea may be excusable, possibly commendable, from the selfish standpoint of a citizen of Los Angeles city who has hanging over him a bonded indebtedness of one hundred dollars per capita and wants some help to carry it. But the citizens of this community are not called upon to act a philanthropic part in the matter and may also be excused for looking at it from the standpoint of self interest. We do not believe that the sentiment favoring our absorption by Los Angeles in the near future, is very strong or general, and we certainly think that if it does in the next few years obtain much of a foothold it will be because of the development of new conditions or through a misunderstanding of the facts of the case. Certainly the people of Glendale have sufficient reason to be satisfied thus far with their experiment of self government; no longer an experiment indeed, but a demonstration of its merits.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

What drink does: Moderate use of alcohol perverts the judgment, lessens the power of self control, impairs the memory. It has a tendency to produce insanity, arouses the demon of craving that may be lying dormant in any of us; is a cause of many diseases, kidneys, liver, brain, heart and blood vessels, all may be affected, reducing the resisting power of the body to infectious diseases, and when the body is attacked by such diseases as typhoid fever, pneumonia or erysipelas. It gives the patient small chances of recovery. It lessens the average life-time of those who indulge, destroying both body and soul. It is no use to anybody. Dr. Whitney of the Wesleyan University of Middletown, Conn., in some recent experiments found that there are other poisonous substances besides alcohol in various beverages. Some things a saloon does: The saloon is a bureau of information for every crime in a community. It is the first place a policeman goes when in search of crime and the last place in search of virtue. In a certain Texas town on Mothers' Day a collection was taken to help in the state-wide prohibition campaign, and among the contributions was a check for five dollars, on the back of which was written, "The saloon man took my home from me; took my three oldest boys' college education from them; put me and my girls in the cotton patch for ten years. God be my helper to do or say something for my native state before the saloon man wins one of my boys."

Bishop Robert McIntyre, D. D., L. L. D., formerly of Los Angeles, in a recent autobiography, entitled "The Boy, the Boze, the Bishop," recites among other things his experience and testing time when an apprentice to the bricklayers' trade. "My employer knew his business well, but much given to drink, as were all his employees. At noon of my first day he bade me pour the water from the pail, go to a near-by tavern and get it filled with ale for the dinner. I brought it as ordered, took my place and saw the bucket with a tin cup coming slowly towards me. When I refused, my boss laughed and shouted, 'Ho, ho, lad, you'll never be a bricklayer till you learn to drink.' I put my untouched dinner in my basket and said, 'Mr. George, if that is true, I'm discharged, for drink liquor I will not; now or ever; I will not.' To my amazement he arose and took my hand and said: 'God bless you, my boy; stand fast and you will be a man some day.' The first step is hardest and I won the heaviest battle. I worked four years for him and saw the ruin drink made. One of my early friends became through it a murderer, another a mad man, another a thief. I have seen wives crushed, homes destroyed, children disgraced, babes diseased, families divided, firms bankrupted, lawyers degraded, doctors degenerated, and ministers debauched, and all who are in prisons, insane asylums, or incurable hospitals, who rot in jailers, or sleep in potters' fields through this treacherous foe of God and man, began as moderate drinkers. My words may not reach or shake the inhuman parasites who are fattened by the gains of this awful traffic, but to the boys I cry: Swear eternal enmity to rum and enlist for this holy war till America is free from it forever."

WHAT'S REST?

Eminent Specialists Show Value of Exercise and Dangers of Fatigue. That no consumptive can hope for a cure of his disease without following the most rigid routine with regard to rest is the conclusion of four interesting articles in the Journal of the Outdoor Life for June, by Professor Frederic S. Lee of Columbia University, New York, Drs. Lawson Brown and F. H. Heise of the Adirondack Cottage Sanatorium, Trudeau, N. Y., Dr. Joseph H. Pratt of Boston, and Will M. Ross of Stevens Point, Wis.

Professor Lee, writing on the subject "The Physiology of Exercise and Rest," shows by experiments on dissected frogs and the ways in which exercise tires the muscles and, in fact, all the organs of the body. He says: "There is no known antidote to fatigue, unless it be rest, with all that rest implies. Sleep allows the reparative process of rest to be performed most quickly and completely. A moderate degree of fatigue, or even a considerable degree when not too often incurred, is not detrimental to a healthy body and is even to be advised. The healthy body is provided with great recuperative powers; and does not rapidly succumb to even excessive demands on its energy. But it should be allowed the proper condition for recuperation; and that condition is adequate rest. There is danger when the fatigue of one day's labor is not eliminated before the next day's work is begun. The effects may then be cumulative, the tissues may be in a continued state of depression, and the end may be disastrous."

Drs. Brown and Heise in an article on "Properly Regulated Rest and Exercise in Pulmonary Tuberculosis," hold that the action of the poisonous germs of the disease on the body is very similar to that of over-exercise. The poisonous irritation caused by the germs gives the organs and tissues of the body a double load to carry. They emphasize the importance of rest in the treatment of tuberculosis, but also insist that properly regulated exercise is very necessary. They state their conclusions thus:

"Exercise when properly regulated and systematically graded is an important factor in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis. Through it the patient is in many cases returned to home and family with lessened chances of future relapse. At the same time part of his earning capacity is restored and he is consequently financially less dependent upon others relieving him of much worry, expense and hardship."

Dr. Frost, who was founder of the first Church Tuberculosis Class in the United States in the Emmanuel church in Boston, claims that in the treatment of tuberculosis absolute rest often in bed, must be extended over a period of months, before the consumptive should take any exercise. He says, "Prolonged rest in bed out of doors yields better results than any other method of treating pulmonary tuberculosis. Patients will have a better appetite and take more food without discomfort and gain weight and strength faster than patients with active disease who are allowed to exercise. Complications are much less frequent. When used in the incipient stage recovery is more rapid and surer."

Mr. Ross, who is himself a cured consumptive, and a writer of considerable prominence, holds that unless resting becomes a business to the tuberculosis patient, he might as well give up his fight for health. "The period of infection with tuberculosis," he says, "is not a vacation. It is a twenty-four-hour-a-day job. True it is a period of idleness, but one of intelligent, directed idleness. The day's work should consist of rest; rest should be the only business on hand. The light exercise, or hour of reading should be considered as the reward of a good day's work, like the evening of slippers and ease to the tired business man at the end of the day. This recreation, however, should be considered only as an incidental result of the patient's work, not the main object."

PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION.

San Francisco, July 13.—In four more days the directors of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company will in all probability settle on a site for the world's fair. As soon as this is done the work of building the exposition will proceed with even greater vim. The advocates of the various sites are still battling for their choice and the directors are still considering the best place for the big project.

The arrival of the delegates of the National Educational Association convention has given the local boosters many opportunities for advertising the fair. As each teacher arrives at the Ferry depot she is asked to register and is then assigned to a hotel. Postal cards to the number of 20,000 have been distributed among the teachers and have been sent by them to all parts of the country. These postals are pictorial in character and picture some interesting spot in San Francisco. They set forth that the writer has arrived safely in the exposition city and invites the receiver to come here in 1915.

On Wednesday the delegates to the N. E. A. will be guests of honor at receptions held at the Palace and St. Francis hotels. Souvenir buttons and artistic booklets will be distributed to the guests. Addresses will be delivered by Hon. James E. Phelan and Hon. Edward R. Taylor, former mayors of San Francisco. Hon. William C. Ralston and Hon. Rolla V. Watt will preside at the hotels and will be assisted in receiving by the most prominent citizens of this city. There will be music and refreshments will be served.

The merchants of this city are also imbued with the necessity of advertising the coming exposition. On Thursday next "Merchants' Day" will be generally observed throughout the city by the decorating of windows with banners inviting the pedagogues to return in 1915.

GLENDAL VIEWS.

The city trustees authorized the city clerk to secure representative views of Glendale to be used at the coming Congress of Municipalities to be held in Chicago. These views will probably be utilized in illustrated lectures on that occasion and as a means of advertisement will be of great value. Mr. C. H. Bott has completed the work of photographing about twenty Glendale scenes including our public buildings, business establishments, residences and street scenes, and altogether they constitute the best collection that we have seen. The subjects are well chosen and the work is artistic.

THE GLENDAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hurt left Tuesday last for a fortnight's visit to San Diego where they will witness the ground-breaking ceremonies of the Panama-California exposition.

During an intermission an excellent musical and literary program was rendered. The serving of refreshments by Misses Eleanor and Mary Richards completed a pleasant afternoon.

Nature's Scene Shifting.

Although in the geological past vast changes of level occurred on the borders and even in the center of continents, it is a debated question whether at present similar elevations and subsidences can be detected. Recently the frequently repeated statement that the coasts of Massachusetts and New Jersey are perceptibly sinking has been disputed, the apparent subsidence being ascribed to simple changes of shore line. But some curious records kept in Europe seem to indicate that actual fluctuations of the level of the land may occasionally be observed. In the valley of the Main a church tower hidden behind a mountain screen has since 1861 gradually risen into plain view from the chateau of Strossendorf, and still farther in the same direction another church tower, which began to be visible from Strossendorf eighty years ago, is now clearly seen above the horizon and is said to rise higher as time goes on. Similar records exist in Bohemia, in Switzerland, in Spain and in the French Jura.

Ocean Derelicts.

There is an old dread of encountering a derelict that is just below the surface of the water. There is no such danger. A derelict that will sink below the surface will sink to the bottom. Take a tub of water and try to find any object that will unattached occupy a position that is other than at the surface or at the bottom. There is a long task ahead of you. There is the false theory that the water grows denser as one goes deeper and that a sinking object will find a place where it will remain suspended. This theory is not correct, and a boat that will sink beneath the surface will sink to the bottom, even if that bottom should be twenty miles down. The derelict that is pumped into has a piece of itself sticking out of the water as an alarm if the eyes of the lookout are only sharp enough to catch it.—New York Tribune.

Know the Boundary Line.

The friends of a couple in Cleveland, in whose household no doubt exists as to who is the head of the family, tell an interesting story relative to the last trifling passage at arms between husband and wife. One evening just before dinner the wife, who had been playing bridge all the afternoon, came in to find her husband and a strange man (afterward ascertained to be a lawyer) engaged in some mysterious business over the library table, upon which were spread several sheets of paper.

"What are you doing with all that paper, Henry?" demanded the wife.

"I am making a wish," meekly responded the husband.

"A wish?"

"Yes, my dear. In your presence I shall not presume to call it a will."—Lippincott's.

Not a Hindrance.

It was a revival meeting, and the church workers were working up and down the aisles. A gray haired woman past middle age approached a sedate looking gentleman who occupied a rear seat on the end of the row. Placing her hand on his shoulder with maternal touch, she said:

"Don't you think you would like to be a Christian?"

"My dear madam," he began, "don't you know that I am professor of theology in the little seminary at the other end of the town?"

The woman, a homely character, and ignorant of the "isms" and "ologies" of the modern curriculum, gave answer in smooth accents:

"Well, my dear brother, don't allow a little thing like that to stand in your way."—Philadelphia Times.

RICH MAN IN HELL, LAZARUS IN BOSOM

Pastor Russell Disagrees With the Ordinary Interpretation of Jesus' Words as Irrational—He Offers a Novel Substitute Which Nevertheless Fits Well to the Narrative—Order Out of Confusion Is the Verdict of Many Winnipeg Hearers.

PASTOR RUSSELL

Winnipeg, Canada, July 9.—Pastor Russell delivered two addresses here today which will never be forgotten, even by those who did not commit themselves fully as endorsing his every utterance. We report one of his discourses from the text, "And in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom" (Luke xvi, 23). Addressing the public under the auspices of the International Bible Students Association, he said:

Realizing that a great mass of superstition and erroneous interpretation of God's Word acts as an earth-born cloud to hide the Heavenly Father from our eyes of faith, I continually address myself to the removal of this barrier. Time and again, after delivering an address setting forth the Divine Plan of the Ages from the Bible standpoint, I have been approached by Christians who said, "What you say, Pastor Russell, is cheering, God-like, just what our hearts are hungering and crying for, but I cannot accept it because of the Lord's Word respecting the Rich Man and Lazarus."

Literal or Parabolic, Which? If our text be a statement of literal facts then all the facts must be taken literally. This would mean that because a certain man was rich and fared beautifully and was clothed in purple and fine linen he would go to an eternity of torment, without a single charge being made against him along the lines of murder, injustice or blasphemy, for in the account nothing of the kind appears. Furthermore, nothing is said of the poor man as being a godly man, but merely that he was poor, full of sores which the dogs licked and ate the offal from the rich man's table.

If those be the grounds upon which any of us have hope for eternal bliss, surely a comparatively small number could claim it. Did we ever have such experiences? If not, what ground have we, according to this teaching, for a hope of reaching Abraham's bosom?

The "rich man" of the parable represented the Jewish nation. The fine linen he wore represented the typical justification granted that nation under the Law Covenant made with Israel at Mt. Sinai. The rich man's purple pictured the royalty which belonged to Israel as God's typical kingdom. Jesus recognized this kingdom dignity as still belonging to that nation when he said: "The Kingdom shall be taken from you and be given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof."

The rich man's beautiful table represented the glorious promises which were theirs primarily, and granted to no other people until after they had rejected Jesus and crucified Him. St. Paul refers to this table and quotes Isaiah the Prophet, saying, "Let their table become a trap and a snare and a recompense unto them."

The Jewish nation has been a dead nation since that time. It is in hades, the tomb. But this implies its resurrection in due time, for the figure of the tomb, hades, does not represent a perpetual condition, but a temporary one, from which Messiah will grant a release, and hades will be destroyed.

Dives in Torment.

But the parable declares that Dives was in torment! How could this be, seeing that the word hades signifies the death state, the unconscious condition? We answer that, nationally, they are dead or asleep, but as a people they are very much alive. It is as a people that they have been suffering the tortures of persecution during the past eighteen centuries, while as a nation they have been dead, buried, and are awaiting a resurrection, of which the present "Zionism" is an advance token. Soon Israel's glorious Kingdom will end, when Messiah's glorious Kingdom shall take its power; and then will come their national resurrection, for they are to be actively and specially identified with the Messianic Kingdom, shortly, as its earthly and visible representatives.

As the two tribes, Judah and Benjamin, were represented in the "rich man," the other ten tribes, scattered amongst the surrounding nations, would, at a like proportion, represent his five brethren. "They have Moses and the prophets, let them hear them." This could not be applicable to any except Israel, for they alone had Moses and the prophets.

Finding the Lazarus Class.

Lazarus represented a God-fearing class outside the pale of Judaism—certain Gentiles, concerning one of whom Jesus said, "I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel!" The Jews were in the habit of speaking of the Gentiles as "dogs." These could, at that time, eat only the crumbs which fell from the Jewish table. But later, the Jews were cast off from favor during this Age and the Gentiles received instead. Each died to his previous condition (Luke xxi, 19; Romans xi, 1-23).

CORRESPONDENCE

Dear Sir: I have been following with much interest the correspondence on the question of giving women the right of franchise, in the recent issues of the GLENDALE NEWS. I would not question the sincerity of the gentlemen who have replied, not answered "J. L. W." neither do I wish to be misconstrued as designating them ignorant, generally speaking, but when they launch out upon such a momentous subject as they have upon their hands, they exhibit a woeful lack of information and reasoning powers, to say the least.

I heartily coincide with "J. L. W." in every particular. My only regret is that he has not drawn the lines more rigid. If it was his intention to permit the ignorant laboring class the opportunity of ultimately possessing the power over their superiors which his articles indicate, I would protest, but in reading between the lines I conclude that our purposes are identical.

There is but little food for thought in "J. L. W.'s" antagonists and such as there is shows unmistakable evidence of contact with and absorption of the conclusions of the proletariat, the masses, the rabble.

I have inquired into the habits of each of those who answered J. L. W.'s scholarly articles and I learn that they are but common working men, having received but a common school education, it being doubtful whether either of them have so much as gazed upon the interior of a college. It is not customary for such a class of people to associate with men and women of education, refinement and means whose leisure enables them to not alone understand the intricate economic problems but also by the divine law of the survival of the fittest make them the natural dispensers of law and justice. These drivers of horses, clerks, etc., would have the sacred right of franchise extended to all women, not alone the educated, refined, aristocratic wives of our kings of finance, but also the common mechanics and laborers wives; the horde of Japs, Poles, Mexicans, Scandinavians and negroes; uneducated, ignorant, vicious, prostitutes, naturalized or otherwise, I presume. Preposterous! The emanations of an atrophied or diseased brain.

For a time I was at a loss to understand why J. L. W. was alone from one standpoint, but as I allow my trained mind to dwell upon the subject and analyze the vaporings of these would-be Demosthenes, I realize that I had accorded them favors which were not due them. They have not alone not raised a single issue, but with the inevitable practice of their class have so failed to comprehend the meaning of not alone the author but the actual unapproachable diction opened before their eyes have garbled the whole situation as a "devil" would "pie" his type.

Confer the franchise upon women? No! A thousand times No! Were it not for the overwhelming number of numskulls of the masculine gender who now enjoy that privilege, the question would not be worth discussing, and we will not further encroach upon the valuable space of the NEWS upon this phase of the subject than to add that an overwhelming majority of men and women of education, refinement and wealth realize that it would degrade women to aspire to a function set apart for man by the Creator.

J. L. W. hits the nail upon the head when he advocates leadership by the few. Such a condition is inevitable. But few have the brain to organize, lead, control. It is necessary to point to the fact that competition and the enormous loss by waste caused by competition, has largely, and will ultimately be absolutely overcome by concentration, so-called trusts and monopolies born in the brain of such geniuses as Mr. Rockefeller and Pierpont Morgan. Cannot even one thick skulled well-meaning laboring agitator reason from premises to conclusion when it is being demonstrated in their own time, under their own eyes?

The time is coming, ay, is close at hand, when but few, very few, of the brainless and most wealthy will absolutely dictate and guide this glorious nation away from the impending breakers which the shallow-minded, low-browed, vicious agitators have and are still endeavoring to place in her path.

A Gentleman of Leisure.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE IN COLORADO.

We clip the following from the Interurban Sentinel (Tropic) whose editor favors Woman Suffrage. The writer is "A man of wide experience and observation, as well as a man of affairs and the head of a family, three members of which have the woman's constitutional right to vote."

"I have been receiving your Tropic paper and reading it with much interest, especially its editorials. It is a spicy, readable paper, and shows you have lost none of your force as a writer. I assure you it is a welcome visitor to our house. Have I overlooked any editorial bearing on the woman suffrage amendment you will vote on soon? I believe you voted for it when it was before you in California some years ago? I feel quite sure if you could see it as it is in practical operation in Colorado, particularly in Denver, you would not wonder that I, as well as hundreds of my friends here who voted for it long for an opportunity to correct their mistake in doing so. For some years W— has felt disinclined to vote and has voted only because I urged her to do her duty (not that I believe in woman suffrage, but because if the good women don't vote an undue weight will be given to the side of the undesirable class). At the last election W— said she would not vote and she did not. I have read articles on both sides in the different journals with a good deal of amusement. That each year more and more of our good women abstain from voting is so plain to us here the bolsters of the status quo that we are more and more shocked. Women in conventions and at the polls are actuated by the same motives that control men I mean those who take an active hand; and if there is any difference it is in the men's favor. Perhaps this aspect is more apparent than real. As we naturally expect much more from a moral way from women than from men, the same delinquency in women is more abhorrent in them than in men. In Colorado woman suffrage has not elevated our politics—at least political conditions have not improved since the advent of woman suffrage. If anything, they are worse. Politics naturally bring the combative element of man into activity—and in combat of that kind "gentle woman" does not appear to advantage. The broad-shouldered, swaggering, coarse-grained woman may, and does enjoy it, and perhaps without detriment to her in any way; but the refined, cultured, sensitive woman shrinks from such a contest, and that is the practical result here as I have observed it. In a political convention, invariably attended with sharp personal contest, turbulence and turmoil, where advantage is sought by fair means or foul, the true woman, whose influence would for good, is conspicuously out of place. The argument that if the ignorant, immoral vicious man may vote, why not the cultured, moral woman, is fallacious. I would seek a remedy for the evils in the exercise of the right of suffrage by its limitation, not by its extension. I know this is contrary to the strong drift of the current towards universal democracy; a current that is set so strong as to sweep down before its on-rushing force many of our constitutional safeguards. The higher law is invoked; the Latin Jus as against the Latin Lex is demanded as a rule of conduct, notwithstanding we have a constitutional government ruled by law. The law seems of no binding force upon any one nowadays, unless it suits his convenience or purpose to have it so. Ignoramuses talk flippantly about what the law is or should be. Really their law is but what they think it should be. I never was much of a democrat in the academic sense. I have never forgotten the definition of the difference between a democrat and a republican by a silk-stocking demagogue from the tripod of the old J. C. T.—e. as follows: A republican believes the best intelligence should rule; a democrat believes all the people should rule by their intelligence high or low."

Temperature of Sea Water.

The temperature of ocean water varies at the surface from 28 degrees F. at the poles to over 80 degrees F. in the tropics. The cold water toward the poles has an annual variation of less than 10 degrees F. at any one spot, and the warm water of the tropics also has an annual variation of less than 10 degrees F. in a band that nearly encircles the earth. This is the region of the coral reefs and atolls. Between these regions of small annual variation there are two bands surrounding the earth where the annual variation is greater and may exceed in certain regions 40 degrees F. at any one spot.—Marine Journal.

The Woman in the Case.

A mother-in-law had stayed so often with her daughter as to cause a quarrel with the husband.

One day she found her daughter weeping in the drawing room.

"What's the matter? Gracious me, don't say that George has left you!" she exclaimed.

"He has," replied the young wife tearfully.

"Then there's a woman in the case?" mused asked, her eyes lighting up expectantly.

"Yes."

"Who is it?"

"You!"

CHAPTER XV.

BOTH men looked at Breed curiously. He was not now addressing them, but gazing intently into the fireplace. Dr. Zephan came hurriedly over and put his hand upon Breed. The door opened, and Lillian came in. She had been about to ask some trivial question; but, seeing that look in her grandfather's face, she, too, hurried over to him and put her hand upon his other shoulder. At Zephan's touch Breed had given no sign, but to the touch of Lillian he responded instantly. The rigidity of his features relaxed. He shook his head as one shakes off drowsiness and then looked up at Kelvin with a resumption of his old shrewd twinkle.

"So that's the program," he said in quite a natural tone of voice. "Next year we'll run the ticket of Kelvin and Rollins."

Rollins caught his breath with a sharp little intake. "It is a high honor," he said.

Kelvin laughed lightly. "No honor could be too high for my greed of power," he said in a half jesting tone. "I am still of the opinion that I should like to be emperor."

Lillian looked up at him, smiling. "And I still hold to my original declaration that if you are I want to be empress," she declared.

Something clattered at Kelvin's feet. Started, they all looked down. It was a bright steel dagger.

"Beg your pardon," said Blagg, stooping down to get it. He had come in unobserved with a message. "It was very awkward of me. As it happens, this is only Mr. Kelvin's paper knife, which I accidentally brushed off the corner of his desk. But, after all, it is a dagger, too, and rather an unlucky omen to drop at the feet of a man who declares his desire to be emperor of the United States!"

The incident was passed over as of no moment, and Rollins laughed in keen amusement.

"Your man Blagg is as good as vaudeville," he observed. "At first I was inclined to take him rather seriously, but he's too melodramatic to mean anything. I happened to see that paper knife incident out of the corner of my eye. Blagg deliberately pushed it off the desk to fall at your feet."

Kelvin joined in the laugh. "He's absolutely harmless," he said, "but he's an excellent wireless operator."

Shortly afterward the paper knife disappeared from Kelvin's desk, but no one noticed its absence.

The argument with Rollins had but one possible result—Hepperdon and Raymer got their concessions, as did a few others. Raymer had originally appeared as representing the entire packers' combine, but when the matter was put squarely up to him he promptly left Speed, Melton Sears & Co. and the rest of them out in the cold, took a comfortable rebate for his own shipments and let them pay the full freight. Valentine was left out entirely, Kelvin, with a smile, pointing out that Breed himself controlled all but one of the men whom Valentine claimed as his own. The Oswald bill was killed in committee.

Valentine was one of the loudest objectors. His business was ruined, and the woolen mills combine resolved itself into its original members. Kelvin's publicity bureau seized upon this as the first shining example of what the fat rate had done for the public, and Kelvin went soaring again in the public esteem. The mills of the woolen combine had once more become independent concerns, competing with one another, with the double effect of raising the price of wool and lowering the price of the finished article, the farmers and the public being the great beneficiaries, and Rollins had done this with Breed back of him as the momentum, and back of them both Kelvin as the dynamic force. Great was Kelvin! Then the beef combine came to blows. Raymer, as he well might, was underselling the other packers and gobbling up their trade. Some of this internal war leaked out, and again the fat rate. Breed, Rollins and mighty Kelvin were heroes! The United Steel corporation, the woolen combine and the beef trust—there was a record over which to crow! Who now was the friend of the people? Why, Breed and Rollins and Kelvin, great Kelvin!

But Kelvin had long since absented himself from Forest Lakes, leaving behind him no thought of any interest that might be there, save as it concerned his own boundless aims. The dreams of two women, one dark and one fair, followed him, but he would not have cared now if he had known. He left the field to his rivals and plunged into his new plans with the same concentration that had marked his previous undertakings. Henry Breed, watched savagely by Zephan, spent his half hour daily in his huge money vault and day by day spent more and more furtive time upon his Bible, while Blagg at dead of night mused, incoherently upon his sample combination lock. He could open it now, set upon any combination, by the mere feel of the drop of the tumbler. Kelvin's new task was an agreeable one. He took up pleasant quarters in Washington and began to entertain the list of senators whom Breed counted as among his assets, and gradually his circle of acquaintances grew. He was gone about three months, and when he returned he sent for Rollins.

"Have you sent Hepperdon and Raymer and the others their rebates?" he asked.

"Yesterday, up to the 1st of the month," replied Rollins. "Why?"

"Because there are to be no more. Collect your fat rate and keep it without a single exception. We've won."

"Rebate to the United Food company, as usual, Rollins," interrupted Breed, with a chuckle. "That's my only profit on bread now, you know, since Kelvin reduced it to cost. And rebate in cash, Rollins, always in cash!"

"But I don't quite understand," protested Rollins. "Can't they legislate against us effectively now?"

"Scarcely," returned Kelvin, with a smile, "since we ourselves are the law-making body, so long as we keep the public from clamoring too much to their servants in Washington. I've just purchased stock in the government—former assets of Hepperdon and Raymer and their fellow bandits—to give us control."

Rollins looked troubled. "I don't like it," he said.

"Nonsense!" declared Kelvin. "We're using it to a good end. You can establish your fat rate now as you planned in the first place. We're going to begin the battle of the trusts in earnest."

"The battle of the trusts," repeated Rollins musingly. "It sounds interesting at least."

"It won't be, though," replied Kelvin, with contempt. "There will be no battle whatever. I'm merely going to chloroform them on the eve of the presidential nomination. About the most popular idea that was ever put before the vast, unsuccessful majority of the voting public is the graded property tax. Well, I'm going to flame into print with the suggestion for a graded corporation tax and then have Mr. Breed's carefully tamed legislators frame that suggestion into a bill and pass it into a law. The wealthier the corporation the more it will be taxed pro rata until toward the top the tax will become prohibitive. The law is already as good as passed, and I imagine that it will be quite a shock to your old friends Hepperdon and Valentine and Raymer, Speed, Melton Sears & Co. and a few others. Eh, Mr. Breed?"

But Henry Breed did not hear Philip. He had just taken from the drawer of his desk a handful of photographs, a piece of red wax crayon, a hammer and some tacks and was starting for the rear study. As he passed Philip caught a glimpse of the top photograph. It was a portrait of Hepperdon.

A cheaply dressed fellow, a big man with a thick neck and broad shoulders and arms that hung crooked at the elbows, alighted at a little wilderness station on the Long Island railroad behind Kelvin and Sam. A farmer-like native approached the more prosperous appearing Philip.

"You, Mr. Kelvin?" he demanded.

"The same," replied Kelvin. "This is Mr. Purser, I believe?"

"I reckon so," admitted the other. "Old Hayseed Purser."

Kelvin clambered into the front seat of a dilapidated surrey. Mr. Purser fixed upon Kelvin a contemplative gaze.

"You don't want to see that scrub oak land we wrote each other about," he suddenly advised, with engaging bluntness. "You're no cheap lot boomer. You're lookin' for a summer home."

"No," objected Kelvin, still smiling. "I'll look at the scrub oak property, I think."

At this moment the big workman looking fellow stepped up to Mr. Purser. "Could you tell me where I'd find a few acres of cheap ground fit for market gardening?" he asked.

"There ain't any such property left on Long Island," declared Mr. Purser emphatically. "The land between this railroad and the water ain't cheap, and the land back o' that you couldn't grow anything on. It is all sand dunes."

"I'll look at what you have anyhow," replied the other.

"All right," said Mr. Purser reluctantly. "Just crawl in the buggy there."

They drove from the station and, turning from the highway by and by, struck off into a scarcely defined road through the wilderness of stunted oaks and pines.

"Well, here you see it," said Mr. Purser deprecatingly. "I might drive you for hours, and it's all just like this."

"What is it worth?" asked Kelvin.

"I reckon I could turn over a thousand acres of it runnin' around forty and fifty dollars an acre."

"A thousand acres," mused Kelvin. "How much money, on the average, do you make a year?"

"That's pretty nigh a personal question, ain't it?"

"It's a business question," returned Kelvin. "I want to buy all this sort of land you can secure within eighty-five miles of Broadway. I'd like to hire you for one year to represent me exclusively in this matter. How much do you want?"

"Well," said Mr. Purser, slowly calculating, "last year I made nigh on to $4,000 in commissions."

"Very good," said Kelvin. "I'll give you five thousand for this year, beginning now. Do you suppose you can save me the amount of your salary?"

"I reckon I could," said Mr. Purser.

"I reckon there ain't anyplace on this island canicker for property as good as I can."

"It's a bargain, then, is it?" inquired Kelvin.

"Yes, I reckon it is. Begins right now, don't it?"

"I think that will be about all for the present," said Kelvin and rose to go.

BURBANK—"THE THIEF," THIRD WEEK.

The great interest in Margaret Illington's performance of "The Thief" at the Burbank theater continues without the slightest evidence of any let-up, and is view of the fact that so many hundreds have been turned away, unable to get seats, at every performance since the initial presentation, the management of the Burbank has found it necessary to devote another week—the third—to this remarkable Bernstein play. The third week of "The Thief" will, therefore, be ushered in with two more overflowing audiences, commencing Sunday matinee.

Following the third week of "The Thief," Miss Illington will be seen in the first performance on any stage of Charles Kenyon's new play, "Kindling." This new work will attract widespread attention, not only because it is the play in which Miss Illington will star in the fall, but also from the fact that it will introduce her in an entirely new sort of character—that of a young married woman of New York's big East Side. "Kindling" has been in rehearsal for the past fortnight. The production, it is promised by the Burbank management, will take rank with anything that has ever been seen locally, while the big cast will include every one of the favorite Burbank organization.

OUR FORESTS.

Sacramento, July 19.—What California has today in merchantable timber and what areas of the state exist which are capable of forests are shown by a forest map compiled and just issued by State Forester G. M. Homans. The map is a picture of natural wealth which the following figures, supplied by Mr. Homans, tell in another way.

"There are approximately 100 million acres within the state," he said, "and upwards of 16 million acres produce or could be made to produce merchantable timber. Nearly one-third of the state is in some degree forested."

"Government forest reserves include approximately 27 million acres; of which 11 million acres are government timber land and 8 1/2 million acres are privately owned. It is only on these reservations that scientific forestry, which seeks to maintain a permanent timber supply for all the people, is being practiced."

"Everywhere else timber is either being cut down and marketed without much thought for the future of the land cut over, or held against the expected rise in prices. The Southern Pacific Company, the largest single owner of timber in the nation, owns 35 billion board feet in California which is being so held."

"For all the forest acres on the map, outside the National Forests, a force of less than 800 voluntary state fire wardens, co-operating in some instances with county officials, fish and game wardens and paid employees of lumber companies, stand between this wonderful natural wealth and its destruction by fire.

"In 1910 there were 738 brush, grass and forest fires burning over 482,563 acres of land and destroying timber to the value of $601,000."

A copy of the map will be mailed to any one writing to Mr. Homans at Sacramento.

GLENDAL'S NEW SCHOOL SUPER-INTENDENT.

No, that is not his title, but in fact the superintendence of Glendale's grammar schools will be the function of Mr. J. T. Anderson, whom the trustees have engaged as supervising teacher for the coming year. Mr. Anderson will be principal of the newly established intermediate school and have general supervision of the others, relieving the trustees of many details that have heretofore rested on their shoulders. Mr. Anderson is a teacher of many years' experience; coming here lately from Imperial Valley. He is the husband of Mrs. Anderson who has been music and drawing teacher for the past four years in the Glendale grammar schools.

THE OPTIMIST.

I love warm days because I know the ice man loves to have 'em so. I fume and fret but don't forget that somewhere cooling breezes blow. And maybe in that somewhere place some chap is trying hard to chase The dollar of his daddies down to buy his wife a modish gown. I love warm days and also nights, they take away our appetites, And keep the cost of living down. I do not fear Fate's darkest frown Unless I'm sure it's meant for me and this I'm pretty slow to see. But when Dame Fortune casts a smile I'll twist it from its course a mile And claim it for my own as though I owned the world and bossed the show. And so when some one says to me with great originality, "Old chap isn't hot enough for you?" I shiver clear down to my toes and say, "Young man I'm almost froze."

J. C. S.

Miss Harriet Wells leaves Glendale on Tuesday for an extended visit in various parts of the Middle West. The greater part of her time will be spent with Mrs. Emerson Bailey, of Salt Lake City, who was recently Miss Harriet Hart, of Los Angeles.

The club parlors were decorated with American flags and patriotic emblems, and the afternoon was mainly devoted to military whist. Mrs. Charles Shattuck and Mrs. Frank Hester were awarded the head prizes, which were two handsome Colonial candlesticks.

It has been a long time since Glendale has been given a show. Everybody should attend the vaudeville show at Filgers' opera house Saturday evening.

Letters received from Mrs. Edgar W. Pack, now over in England, report her health greatly improved. Mr. and Mrs. Pack and Miss Minnie Penn are all located at present near Tunbridge Wells. Miss Penn is also reported as feeling much better as a result of breathing English air.

C. H. Bott, proprietor of our book store in Fourth street, left Wednesday for a vacation trip of ten days in the mountains near the San Gabriel river. He will go to Follow's camp and from there will tramp for about eight miles over the mountain trails and will camp in Cow canyon. We expect to see the proof of his mountain stories in the form of photographs shortly after his return.

A company of the most capable local talent will be seen in that show at Filgers' opera house Saturday evening. There will be good singing and acting, excellent scenery and some real good surprises. This company has been seen in several events recently and on every occasion has made good. They can come back.

Miss Harriet and Miss Katherine Wells were guests on Saturday at an afternoon card party given at the home of Mrs. Frank Mathews, 2212 Leoti street, Los Angeles. Mrs. Mathews was assisted by Miss Mildred and Miss Bettie Bell Hotchkiss, and the affair was given in honor of Miss Maud Lawton, of Bakersfield, who possesses a number of Glendale friends.

S. P. BRIDGE AT SAN PEDRO.

Work on one of the largest single span uplift bridges ever to be constructed has been started by the Southern Pacific Company in San Pedro harbor, California. The length of the bridge is 187 1/2 feet. The bridge will carry a double track and will be operated by electric power, capable of lifting the ponderous mass of steel in fifty seconds, affording a clear channel of 185 feet for the passage of boat traffic.

The new bridge is what is known as the Strauss trunion type, differing from the Bascule bridge of the Salt Lake railroad, also at San Pedro, in that the latter is lifted on a rocker, while the Southern Pacific bridge will be lifted on a tall pin or hinge. It is also to be double tracked. A latch operated by a motor will hold the bridge in place when it is down. This new bridge will replace the present Southern Pacific and Pacific Electric trestle bridges.

WEATHER AND PRODUCTS.

The past week has been seasonably warm, a humid atmosphere creeping over the mountains from the desert. A temperature of 95 in the highest recorded and that only lasted for a few hours. The nights although comfortable are warmer than is usual here, the result being that all vegetation is growing very rapidly, at the same time garden stuff is higher than ever before at this season. Not much produce is coming in from the local gardens and orchards as yet. Considerable green corn is offering; peas are scarce and the lettuce from the local gardens is poor. Muskmelons from Burbank came in this week. Apricots are quite plenty, but the quality does not seem to be of the best. A few local peaches have come and gone.

Book Social

A dime book social under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will be held at the home of Mrs. F. E. Albright, 309 Orange street, on the afternoon of July 27th, from 2:30 to 5 p. m. All ladies are invited to come and bring a friend and to represent some book which the others are to guess. Those having their yard of pennies ready, please bring them at that time.

Thursday of last week a brush fire got into the chapparel back of the Verdugo Ranch up in the canon and required the exertions of a number of volunteers from Glendale for several hours to get it under control. There was difficulty experienced in locating the fire warden and it is understood that as a result, Marshal Miller will be appointed deputy fire warden, so that in case of fire in the nearby hills he will have power to act.

TROPICO

A dancing party was given in the G. A. R. hall on Glendale avenue last Saturday evening, by the Four Leaf Clover Club.

There was a meeting of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the Methodist church in the church last Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Eulalia Richardson, who is passing the summer months at Catalina island, is entertaining Miss Alta Stone of this city for several weeks.

J. R. Riley and family of Los Angeles, have taken possession of their new residence, "Seven Gables," on Mira Loma street in the Richardson tract.

Mrs. Winebrenner moved this week into her new home on Ninth street. Her home on Park avenue has been rented to Mr. J. Jones and family of Los Angeles.

Mr. Burkle of Tenth street, who has been ill for the past few weeks as a result of an accident in Los Angeles, has sufficiently recovered to be about.

E. B. Ellis returned Tuesday to his home here after a visit of ten days at Elizabeth Lake. While away he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Chandler, who are living in the northern country.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ireland visited Tuesday with Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Bokkin, pastor of the local Methodist church. They went to Arroyo Grande this week, where they will have charge of the music at a series of meetings.

W. O. Huse, a part owner in the Builders' Supply Company, is putting up a home which will cost about $3150 on Mira Loma street in the Richardson tract. The work is being done by C. B. Cunningham.

A meeting of the Washington and Glendale Park Improvement Association was held at the Washington Park school house last Tuesday. Matters which tend toward the improvement of the districts represented were discussed.

Notices have been posted during the past week calling for extensive improvements on Central avenue. In addition to those on Central avenue paying for this work, the residents of the side streets for a distance of several hundred feet will be forced to "dig up."

A committee of ladies from the Tropic Thursday Afternoon Club will give a dancing party in Logan's hall this (Friday) evening. Following are the members of the committee: Mesdames Hal Davenport, J. A. Logan, W. H. Bullis, J. H. Webster, Frank Balleentyne, A. O. Coffrad and Andrew Stevenson.

W. A. Hough is erecting a three-story residence at the corner of Central avenue and Tenth street. The first floor will have a living room, dining room, library, breakfast room, reception hall and kitchen; on the second floor will be three bedrooms, bath room and sleeping balcony; the third floor will have sleeping rooms. A heater will be in the basement and the cost of the home will be about $7000.

The merchants of Tropic are to be commended on the fact that beginning with last Sunday the stores of the town are closed all day Sunday. This movement was started by Mr. Smith, who purchased an interest recently in the Tropic Mercantile company. Previously the places or businesses were open for an hour or so Sabbath morning for the accommodation of those who thought it was impossible for them to secure enough eatables for week-end on Saturday. This Sunday trading, however, was comparatively small, and we believe the merchants will not be great losers on account of this good movement.

TROPICO TEACHER APPOINTED.

The following teachers have been appointed as instructors at the Tropic grammar school for next season: Principal, Mrs. Martha McClure; grammar school grades, Misses Freda Borwick, May Cornwell, Lita Hibben, Iva Hunter, Gertrude Bond, Helen Ingraham and Bertha Hopkins; domestic science, Miss Catherine Curry; manual training, Miss Lucie Bettanier; music, Miss Young. The board of education this year consists of Dwight Griswold, B. W. Richardson and James Rich.

TO OPEN BRAND BOULEVARD.

At last it seems that the dreams of some of the Tropic citizens—the opening of Brand boulevard—between Cypress street and Tropic avenue—will soon be realized. The latter part of this week notices will be posted along Brand boulevard and on all streets within 150 feet east of Glendale and 150 feet west of Central avenue. This entire district will be assessed to pay the cost of opening. Twenty-six hundred notices will be needed to cover this district. Mr. Fishback, the Tropic marshal and street superintendent, has been burning the midnight oil and has been thinking things that would assist in lighting the Tropic streets, during the past week. He was compelled to sign with pen and ink every one of the 2600 notices that were posted.

The prospects are bright for street lights in this city. Before ordering the improvement the trustees will pass a resolution declaring it to be their intention to order such improvement and specify the exterior boundaries of the district to be assessed for the cost.

The trustees are taking steps toward the improvement of the postal system for this city. The trouble which is now stirring the local people was started by the "butting in" on the Tropic postal service by deliveries from outside stations. Burr Richardson has signified his willingness and intention to erect a postoffice building for this city which will fill every need of the Tropic office. Trustees Richardson and Hobbs are looking into this matter.

F. R. Sinclair has been granted permission to do street work on La Brea Court by private contract.

WEST GLENDALE

The formal dedication of the West Glendale M. E. church will take place on Sunday. The new pews are in place and the church presents a very neat appearance. Everyone welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Witt with a party of friends enjoyed an auto trip to Venice on Tuesday. The weather was very cool and the sun was ashamed to show itself but very little through the day.

If there is any occasion to have things "whooped up" just send for some of the children in West Glendale; a majority of them have been practicing this "art" for some time. But if this warm weather continues, we hope they will soon be better.

His Bell Service keeps him in touch with the outside world. The R. F. D. has helped him wonderfully. The Bell System helps him still more. It enables him to do business direct. Every Bell Telephone is the center of the whole Bell System.

The Hatfield Hardware people on Central avenue are putting in gas for lighting purposes. It is said that a number of people contemplate doing this, the charges made by the electric company being practically prohibitive.

Mrs. Barnett of Randolph street has sold her home place to Mrs. Clara Ladner of New Orleans, who will occupy the place this week and is already having extensive improvements made to the house. To a landsman it looks as if there is little regard being paid to the fact that a large body of water must sometimes pass underneath any structure that spans the wash at this point; crossing diagonally over the stream it would seem that the trestle now being put in place would prove a most effective barrier to the passage of any storm water underneath. The result will be watched with interest.
